

ANNEXURE D

SAQCC (Corrosion Protection) – Disciplinary Policy

This disciplinary policy has been drafted as a direct result of fraudulent certificates being created and used in the tendering process which requests qualified paint applicator staff. The seriousness of the matter is the fact that Millions of Rand's can be lost due to poor/unqualified staff working on a project.

The following needs to be noted.

1. Any service provider in the industry can offer their services to run courses.
2. Only SAQCC (Corrosion Protection) accredited courses will be examined by the SAQCC (Corrosion Protection) Examiner.
3. SAQCC (Corrosion Protection) certificates are only issued to students that have passed the Theory per module. Should a student pass the practical and fail the theory, they do not pass.
4. If more than one module has been taken, the wording Incompetent would appear for those modules that were not passed and Not Assessed would appear if they did not take the module.
5. Should a Service Provider wish to have their course/s accredited by the SAQCC (Corrosion Protection), their course training documents will be reviewed by the SAQCC (Corrosion Protection) reviewers selected by the committee.
6. Any certificates created in the industry with the SAQCC (Corrosion Protection) logo and false signatures of the Chairperson and Examiner on it will be dealt with severely and companies/individuals fined as below:

Fraudulent Certificates

The fines below will be reviewed annually.

Any company found creating fraudulent certificates, will be fined accordingly:

The cost of a course for 10 delegates being R40 000 (subject to change).

Including the following costs: -

- All associated costs.
- Incidental costs.
- Examining costs.

No training will be provided for said students for the period of 6 months. The student's names and ID numbers will appear on the SAQCC (Corrosion Protection) website for said period.

All payments to be made with the Reference: SAQCC Fine and name.

Banking Details:

Corrosion Institute of Southern Africa

First National Bank

Branch: Carlswald

Branch code: 250 117

Account No.: 5921 0034 002